

HAPPY
PURR-TH DAY!
MEOWW

Happy Birthday Shauhar! 🧡🎉

I remember that you were the first person I met in college. Who knew that one random meeting would turn into this crazy, sweet, and slightly dramatic Shohar-Begum bond we have now? 😂

You're honestly the person I can be my real self with the weird, chaotic, unfiltered version and instead of judging me, you join in. Everything feels easier and lighter when you're around. Whether it's us laughing over nonsense or sharing the same brain cells for the most random things, it always feels like home. 🥺

And even though there's a distance between us, nothing can really keep us apart. Distance can never break what we have — we're way too connected through memories, jokes, and random memes for that

On your special day, I just want to say — always keep shining and smiling like you do. May your life ahead be full of joy, peace, success, and so many happy little surprises. You deserve every bit of happiness in this world, and me ofc. 😂

So here's to you, Shauhar — may your birthday be full of laughter, cake, and zero stress. And don't forget... your begum still expects her share of the cake

With love
Your Begum 🥰

